In Them Another Woman Meets An Awful Death.

THE WHITECHAPEL FIEND SUPPOSED TO BE AGAIN AT WORK.

The Police Powerless — Bloodhounds Placed on the Scent Show Their Uselessness—Attempt to Conceal the Real Cause of the "Accident" to the Czar's Train. Nihilists Arrested—Notes.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Another horrible murder has taken place in the East End. A woman's body, hacked and cut into pieces, was found in Dorset street. The body was found at 11 o'clock. The police are endeavoring to trace the murderer with bloodhounds.

The body was mutilated in a manner similar to the bodies of the women previously murdered.

The victim of the Spitalfields murder was, like the rest of the Whitechapel victims, an abandoned woman. She had a husband who was a porter, but she lived with him only at times. Her name is believed to be Lizzie Fisher, and she was nicknamed Mary Jane. As she entered the house where she lodged by means of a latch key, probably no one saw the man who accompanied her. Hence it is doubtful if the murderer is ever identified.

The man might easily have left the house at any time between the hours of land without attracting any special attention. The physicians who viewed the corpse reserve their statements for the inquest which will follow. Three bloodhounds which are owned by a private citizen have been placed on the scent, but they are useless.

The appearance of the remains was frightful and the mutilation was even greater than in the previous cases. The head had been severed from the body and placed beneath one of the arms.

The ears and nose had been cut off. The body was disembowled and the flesh was torn from the thighs. The womb and other organs are missing. The forehead and cheeks had been completely skinned and one hand was pushed into the stomach.

The Wreck to the Czar's Train.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The efforts of the Russian government to conceal the real cause of the accident to the czar's train have proved futile. The stories about the defective railway sleeper which gave way at an inopportune moment and derailed the train, and the high rate at which the engines were driven under the czar's orders for the sake of making up lost time, are very ingenious, but it is too evident that they were manufactured for the occasion. The arrests that have been made since the accident tell quite another story, and one, which, in the light of recent discoveries of infernal machinery at Sebastopol, will be more readily believed than those circulated by the authorities.

The other day fifty or more suspected Nihilists were arrested in Moscow, while numerous other arrests have been made in other parts of Russia. The government, it is thought, have got on the track of a gigantic conspiracy to kill the czar, one part of which was the attempt on his railway carriage last week. The Russian censors have suppressed most of the facts, and information on the subject is very meagre at best. It appears, however, that the headquarters of this latest conspiracy was in Moscow, from which city submarines were directed. A portion of the latter was stationed at Sebastopol, and it is said that they rank among high officials there.

That the "accident" which befell the imperial train was arranged by these czar-haters can hardly be doubted. This plan, as is known, failed of execution on the man for whom it was intended, though it proved fatal to a number of others, but unless the government have succeeded in breaking up the band of Nihilists who planned this plot, other details of the conspiracy will be forthcoming, which may be more successful.

In the French Chamber.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—In the chamber of deputies M. Dreyfus moved that the 42,000,000 francs asked by the government to fortify the harbors of Brest and Cherbourg be spent in building cruisers and torpedo vessels. The German and Italian navies, he said, were superior to the French navy, and the German government was about to demand 250,000,000 marks to build more vessels.

Admiral Krautz, minister of marine, said that when the Germans demanded that amount he would demand a similar sum. [Applause.] The French navy should not be underestimated. The year 1899 would see it in a respectable condition.

M. Dreyfus withdrew his motion. M. Dorlan moved to reduce the estimate for naval supplies by 1,500,000 francs. Admiral Krautz opposed the motion, and said he should regard it as a mark of want of confidence. This caused excitement, and M. Dorlan withdrew his motion.

Excitement in Queensland.

BRISBANE, Nov. 10.—The premier has sent a cable dispatch to the Queensland agent in England, saying that the appointment of Governor Blake, of Newfoundland, to the governorship of Queensland has excited general anger and wonder. Ex-Premier Griffith agrees with the premier in condemning the appointment. Last week the government had urged the English government privately to submit the name of the proposed governor, but this was refused.

Nansen's Trip Accomplished.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—A vessel which has arrived at a port of Norway, reports that Nansen, the explorer, has accomplished his perilous journey across Greenland on the inland ice, and has arrived safely at Godthaab, on the west coast of Greenland. The journey was made on snow shoes and was for the purpose of exploring the unknown interior of Greenland.

To Appeal to the Throne.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 10.—In the legislature yesterday the government announced that an appeal would be made to the foot of the throne against the outrages perpetrated against the province by the Federal government. It is probable a request will be made to have the province elevated into a crown colony. Premier Greenway dealt for three hours with the charges of corruption made against himself and the government. These, he said, were wholly untrue.

Re-Elected But to Die.

General Fisk Talks.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Gen. Fisk, the Prohibition candidate, says: "Our campaign this year was very peculiarly circumstanced from the fact that a vital issue was at stake, which was being fought on lines clearly defined by both parties. Some of the best men in the Prohibition party became restless about the tariff scare and finally declared that they felt it their duty to support the Republicans so as to defeat Cleveland. I have received many letters to the same effect from those who came to us from the Democratic ranks and who concluded they would support the president in what they considered his very wise measure. "Our forces, therefore, suffered some from this peculiar defection which was scattering rather than confined to any one state. I did not expect much from the doubtful states, where the battle was hottest and every one absorbed in one issue, but much encouragement was looked for from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Michigan. Our vote in Minnesota this year is four times larger than that polled for St. John. This in itself is encouraging, and strengthens my belief that the west is where we will eventually be strongest. Reports from other sections have not come in yet, but I do not anticipate any very remarkable falling off. Now that Harrison is elected I shall look for the millennium the Republicans have been promising."

The franchise, subscription list, good will, etc., of the Birmingham, Ala., Age has been bought by the Herald company, and a new company was organized, with a capital stock of $300,000. The Herald will appear as the Age Herald.
